Fancy Cookery for Christmas.

What would Chistmas be without the traditional dinner with the good old-fashioned plum pudding and the numerous other seasonable dainties? But something new in this line in the practice, coming into favor, or including various forms of cookery among one's Christmas gifts. In the December Delineator there is a suggestive chapter in "The making of a Housewife," by Isabel Gordon Curtis, giving many useful hints to this purpose. "Suggestions for a Child's Christmas Party," "Various Plum Puddings and Harmonious Sauces," and "Quaint Little Cakes for Holiday Occasions" prove to be useful as well as something new to add to one's menus, and Home-Made Holiday Beverage" and "Table Decorations for Children's Christmas Parties" close the very valuable department of the magazine

The Apolo Glee Club.

The Apollo Glee and Minstrel Club, the concluding number in the Teacher's Institute series of entertainments was the climax of the week. For two hours the attention of the audience it was of capacity size) was not allowed to lag and had all the demands for encores been responded to the length of the program would have greatly exceeded that limit. The Glees were sung with a snap, a soulfulness and a sweetness that was inspiring. The minstrel specialties were splendid, absolutely free from courseness, compelling those not accustomed to merriment, to laugh immoderately. Every part of the program was of indisputed excellence and the audience felt on leaving the hall that it had been dlightfully entertained.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church, when MISS CAROLYN LOUISE MCQUAY was united in marriage to Dr. LEON REX FELT. Rev. Hunter Watts, of Lancaster, cousin of the bride's father, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. McCaslin, using the ring service.

The church was artistically decorated in pink and white, under the supervision of Mrs Chas. W. Shaffer.

The bride was given away by her father, and her three sisters acted as bride's maids. The ushers were Messrs. Jay P. Felt, Chas. W. Shaffer, Guy Felt and Russell McQuay.

Mr. and Mrs. Felt left on the midnight train for Washington, D. C., and other southern points to pass the winter.

"The Missouri Girl" with Zeke and Daisy and their fun making associates, will be seen a Opera House, Thursday, Nov. 9.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

SCOTT.

Walter Scott, an aged colored gentle man, who has been in feeble health for some time, owing to his advanced age, being about 90 years old, passed away last Saturday at the residence of his son, William Scott, on West Sixth street. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Tuesday afternoon. The following relatives from a distance were present: Jos. Warren, nephew, Bridgeport, O., and Sina Harris, niece, Cleveland, O. The deceased was a remarkable old gentleman and energetic up to a few months. He was father of twelve children and proud of the fact that he had over seventy grand and great-grand children.

SHNYDER.

MRS. SUSAN M. SHNYDER, aged 41 years, eight months and 28 days, passed away Nov. 6th, 1905, leaving a husband and four children—Peter, Alex., Boyd and Lessie. For eight years this lady has been a great sufferer, but bore her affliction with a christian's fortitude. She was a devout member of the Emmanuel Episcpoal church but health prevented her from attending services as much as she desired. Her death is a sad affliction to the family. The funeral takes place to-day at two o'clock from the residence on Cherry street, services to be held in the Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

RELATIVES IN ATTENDANCE.

Rev. Hunter Watts, (cousin) Lancaster, Pa; Frank F. Shnyder, Mrs. Margaret Haukey, South Williamsport; Mrs. J. C. Shaffer, Mr. N. W. Pysler, Montgomery; Mr. P. H. Sheddy and wife, Dents Run; Mr. and Mrs. McVain, Cameron; Mrs. Jas. Reid, Moore Hill.

Lecture by the Rev. Dr. Mallett.

A lecture entitled "A Good Time Coming," relating to the social and industrial outlook, will be delivered by the Rev. Frank J. Mallett, Ph. D., Rector of St. John's Church, Sharon, Pa., in Emmanuel Parish House, next Thursday evening, Nov. 16th, at eight o'clock.

Dr. Mallett was for some years a member of the Ameri an Academy of Political and Social Science, and is now actively engaged in the work of the Church Association for the advancement of the interests of Labor. He is well known as an eloquent and entertaining lecturer.

The proceeds will be devoted to the New Organ Fund. Tickets 25c.

Dr. Humphreys' Specifics.

It is well known that Dr. Humphrey's "Seventy-seven" is the only Specific for LaGrippe and Colds.

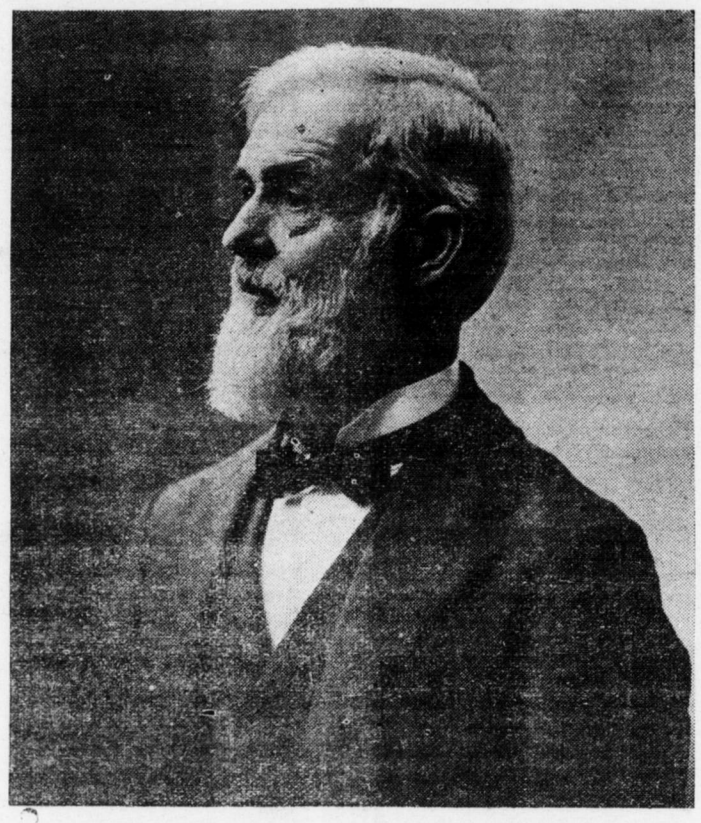
We want those who have used "77" to know that Dr. Humphrey's' System of Specific covers all diseases from infancy to old age—it is a question which derives the greatest comfort from their use, the baby with Colic or the old and feeble with the almost invariable weakness of the Bladder or Kidneys. The Specifics are fully described in a little book to be had at all drug stores or mailed free. They are for sale by all Druggists, 25c each with few exceptions. Humphreys' Homeo. Medicine Co., Cor. William and John Streets, New York.

Don M. Larrabee Promoted.

Don M. Larrabee, who has been residing at Philadelphia for some time has located at Williamsport, where he assumes charge of the Williamsport Agency of New York Life Insurance Co., at an increased salary. Mr. Larrabee has charge of Lycoming, Clinton, Cameron, Potter and Tioga and several other counties.

Married.

Mr. Jay Paul Felt, of Emporium, and Miss Bessie A. Earl, of Lansing, Mich., were quitely married at the bride's home last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Felt and his bride returned to Emporium last Monday and will reside here. Congratulations.



HON. GEO. A. WALKE, AGED 76 YEARS.

Death and Burial of Judge George A. Walker.

In our last issue we announced, the sad intelligence that Associate Judge George A. Walker had met with an accident while visiting, (accompanied by his son Geo. A Jr., and Miss Walker,) W. S. Walker, at Austin, and was then in an unconscious state, not having at any time regained consciousness after falling down stairs. The announcement of his death was 'phoned to Emporium last Friday night, about nine o'clock, that he had breathed his last at ten minutes of nine. A number of the directors of the First National Bank having just returned from visiting their President, immediately returned to Austin to convey his remains to his home at this place, arriving here on Saturday evening. Short religious services were held at Austin by the Rev. Mr. Donahue, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, before conveying the remains to Emporium. Upon arrival of the train from Austin a vast concourse of citizens met the remains at Broad street station and many were the expressions of regret over the death of this prominent and successful business man and citizen. It was the intention of the family to hold the the funeral on Tuesday afternoon, but in deference to the wishes of many friends from different sections it was thought best to postpone the last sad rites until Wednesday afternoon, in order to allow all to pay a proper respect to one who has been closely identified with the material interests of Emporium and Cameron county for thirty-two years.

A BUSY LIFE.

A majority of our citizens are perfectly conversant with the humble origin of the deceased, his years of hard toil in a blacksmith shop, after which he entered the Brown & Struthers Iron Works at Warren, as foreman; how he managed the great oil well supplies turned out at that time By yard work he managed to save little by little until his small investments warranted his branching out for himself, which he did, locating at St Marys and engaging in business. Believing in the future of Emporium, he located here and purchased the J. L. Beers hardware store and soon became interested in many industries here—his first venture aside from his store being in the lumbering business with Andrew Kaul, on Sterling Run. In 1884 he strongly advocated the establishing of a Bank in Emporium and with a number of gentlemen succeeded in organizing the First National Bank and was chosen President, a position he held to the day of his death. His careful and wise management soon placed the First National on a firm footing and to this day has always been considered one of the most conservative managed institutions in the state. During the depression in business it was his financial management that saved more than one business man from ruin and bankruptcy. Early he formed a co-partnership with the late William Howard and erected the brick block at the corner of Fourth and Broad streets, where a successful business was conducted until he sold his stock of hardware to Murry & Coppersmith Co., in order to allow his son W. S. Walker to give his attention to the Emporium Lumber Company's extensive business—another industry that owes Geo. A. Walker a debt of gratitude for standing by it until it could walk alone and prospered. He was one of the organizers of Emporium Water Company and a stockholder in St. Marys Gas Company. He was always ready to invest in a safe project it he could see that it would pay a fair percentage and never took any stock in wild-cat ventures, knowing how hard he had worked to save for his old age. Geo. A. Walker was honorable, just and strict as a business man and knew how to drive a good bargain and seldom got caught by a sharper.

Jan 24th, 1904, his wife was called away and while he greatly missed his help mate of his long years of toil, he continued to pay strict attention to affairs. Surrounded by a loving daughter and sons, his late years were spent by daily visits to his friends and many were the happy hours he passed with trusted ones.

Deceased leaves a family of six children, all grown to womanhood and manhood, viz: Mrs. Stella Sykes, Buffalo; Mr. W. S. Walker. Austin; Mrs Gertrude Egbert, Ithaca, N. Y.; Mr. J. M. Walker, Scranton; Miss Grace A., and Geo. A. Jr., at home. All were present at the funeral but Mrs. Egbert.

Politically Mr. Walker was a Republican and held most of our Borough offices in addition to two terms as County Commissioner, and when he died was filling the position of Associate Judge with credit.

Religiously he was for many years Vestryman and treasurer of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and contributed to the support of all churches. His family always highly respected in this community, have only to look into the right direction for consolation and remember the unsullied character and reputation this always busy, thoughtful, mild and considerate father has left them.

THE LAST CHAPTER OF LIFE.

When the hour for the funeral arrived the large residence was filled with relatives and friends called there to view and pay that last respect due a friend and citizen. The parlor was banked with flowers in great abundance, while the body reposed peacefully upon a handsome couch casket, beautifully draped by director LaBar.

Immediately upon the arrival of the Masonic bodies, directors of the Bank and Gas Company the services commenced, being conducted by Rev. J. M. Robertson, Rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, assisted by Rev. O. S. Metzler, of M. E. Church, and Rev. Robt. McCaslin, of Presbyterian Church—the former reading the church services, Rev. Metzler the Scriptures and a prayer by Rev. McCaslin—an especially selected choir composed of Misses Grace McCaslin, Byrde Taggart, Mr. Fred Heilman Mr. A. D. Ericsson. Mrs. Frank Beers at the organ.

REV. MR. ROBERTSON'S REMARKS.

We regret that want of space forbids our giving but an abbreviated portion of his able remarks:

"For we walk by faith, not by sight."
—II Cor. 5: 7.

Not two years have passed since this home witnessed another such gathering as this. Then it was the wife and mother, who had been brought home stricken unto death, to whom we paid our last mortal tribute. Now the widowed father has joined her in spirit, and this afternoon we shall lay his dust beside hers in the Christian hope of a joyful resurrection. He who has been taken away in ripeness of years has been a familiar, respected and distinguished figure in our community for many years; one whose loss is felt and mourned; one of whose domestic virtues and public services much might be said; one who was the soul of integrity and honor, of justice and kindness. Very lovable and companionable was he as a friend, as all who knew him know. His death makes a void, not only in many circles of honor and influence, but also in the hearts of those who knew him, whether old or young. He was for years a communicant of Emmanuel Parish, a member of the Vestry and the Treasurer of the Parish. In these relations, as in others, he leaves a void that is deeply felt.

In the presence of the dead we stand face to face with a great mystery, one of those dark, or at least hidden, facts of existence which we can but faintly understand. Beyond the veils of time and space sight does not penetrate. The other world is truly called the Unseen. It is by faith that we know it, not by sight.

The present occasion forces the realization of this strongly upon us. Yet is it not always true, and in all things human, that we walk in part by faith, and not wholly by sight? Faith in some form enters into all that is most precious and good and beautiful in life. What we prize above all other earthly good are the ties of love and friendship. Above all other joys we cherish those of personal fellowship. And yet our knowledge of one another is mediated through faith, and not merely through sight. We cannot see one another's heart and spirit. If we could see only with our eye-balls and hear only with our ear-drums, we never could know one another. It is the unseen spirit within us that recognizes the presence of the kindred unseen spirit behind the form which sight reveals. No mere physical demonstration can prove to us the existence of fellow spirits. "For who among men knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of the man which is within him?" It were as easy to know God through eye and ear and touch as to believe in the existence of our fellows on physical evidence alone. Perhaps when we gaze upon the silent, still forms of the departed, the doubt may whisper itself to us that the spirits which once animated those forms has passed into nothingness, like the sounds which cease forever when the strings of the instrument have been snapped. But why should we heed that whisper of doubt? It never was through mere sight that we knew the spirit of our departed friend. We never saw his spirit; it was always through faith that we knew him. Shall we doubt now that he liveth simply because we cannot see his soul? It was only through the spirit within us, only through faith, that we ever did know him. Shall the right of faith be denied us now to believe that apart from the body he still lives?

After the large assemblage had taken a last view of remains of their friend the funeral cortege silently wended its way to the "silent city." After responsive reading by the clergymen at the grave, the Masonic bodies performed their duty and consigned the mortal remains of Brother Walker to his tomb, to await the call of the Grand Master on high.

"Farewell, Brother."

BEAUTIFUL FLORAL OFFERINGS.

Never in the history of Emporium, have such large and beautiful floral offerings been seen here, it requiring three carriages to convey the pieces to the cemetery. The following were of especial beauty: Pillow, "Father" cut flowers, roses, chrysanthemums from children; Flower Robe of white chrysanthemums, from Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Perley, Williamsport; Flower Robe of white chrysanthemums, from Mrs. Elizabeth Howard and family; Flower Robe of lavender chrysanthemums, from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. LaBar and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rishell; Pillow "Our President" from First National Bank; Wreath of chrysanthemums from Emporium Water Co.; French Wreath of chrysanthemums and violets from Emporium Lumber Co.; Broken Circle and Harp on standard, with base of bed of roses and carnations, from employees of Emporium Lumber Co, at Austin; Maltese Cross from active Pall bearers; Square and Compass, from Emporium Masons; White Cross from Vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church; Wreath from A. N. Vodack and wife, Austin; Wreath from Mr. Geo. H. Crawford, town; Casket Bouquets from Mrs. Grace Harmon, Wiley family and Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Bardwell.

Judge Walker was a member of Emporium Lodge No. 382, A. Y. M.; Bloomsburg Consistory, and Knapp Commandery, of Ridgway, No. 40 and Emporium Chapter, No. 227, and stood well up the ladder, at, if not near, the 32 degree line.

CAMERON ON TOP.

The Republicans of Cameron county are to be congratulated over the splendid victory achieved on Tuesday, electing the state and county ticket by good majorities, which is very gratifying when looking around the state. Little Cameron has remained true to the principles of Republicanism. The demand for the election of the three gentlemen nominated for County Commissioner—all Republicans—is as it should have been. Messrs. Lewis, Kreider and Bailey will conduct the affairs of the county in the interest of the tax-payers we firmly believe. Mr. Swope pledges to give his office strict attention. See election returns in another column.

The People Have Spoken.

A wave of reform has passed over the country as it has in the past, resulting in the defeat of Mr. Plummer in this state, Gov. Herrick in Ohio and other candidates. Possibly it is for the best. The people mostly Republicans, believed the false reformers and did their bidding. When the "lid is laid bare" the people will see what dupes they have been. Then Pennsylvania will right itself and roll up an old time Republican majority. The Republicans will clean house themselves, not waiting for Reformer Berry. Close up the ranks, Republicans.

The Star Course.

Patrons of the Star Course will not forget the opening of the chart at Lloyd's book store, Friday morning, Nov. 10, at seven o'clock. A line will be formed and seats assigned in order of application, each person being limited to six. The first attraction will be Mr. Pitt Parker the Crayon Humorist, Monday evening, Nov. 13, at the opera house. General admission 50 cents; gallery 25 cts.

Russell the Magician.

Ring tricks have always occupied an important place on the programme of the great magicians. Russell the Magician, who will appear at opera house on Tuesday evening, Nov. 14th, the custom of his illustrious predecessors.

"The Mystery of the Wedding Ring" is one of his favorite illusions. It is a combination of all the ring tricks now being practiced,

Russell borrows a ring from a lady in the audience and carries it on his magic Wand to a little mortar on the stage. The magician then pounds it into hard shapeless mass which is rammed down the barrel of a revolver. The pistol is shot at a mehogany cabinet on a stand twenty foot distant. During this process the owner of rings usually becomes considerably alarmed and as the magician seems to have forgotten the ring or is slow in proceeding with his trick, reminds him of the fact that her jewelry has not been returned. Russell goes to the cabinet and unlocking it takes out a series of boxes, one within the other. In the last box the ring is found securely tied to handsame bonquet of roses. This pretty trick never fails to bring forth hearty and appreciativo applause.

Reports have been received at the Japanese foreign office from the Japanese representatives at Pekin that the emperor of China, by formal and solemn decree, has ruled the bow and arrow out of the Chinese army, only weapons of modern times hereafter to be carried.

On taking their seats for the first time on the bench at the newly erected courthouse at Delmerhorst, Germany, the judges were much perturbed to find that the architect had ornamented the portico with the sculptured head of a fox on one side and that of a sheep on the other.

Grafting the bone from a dog's leg onto the leg of a man, to replace some five inches of bone that had been removed, and so saving to the man his leg, was the remarkable surgical feat performed by a San Francisco surgeon. It was the first recorded case of grafting upon the human bone the bone of one of the lower animals.

One of the oddest freaks of reptile life ever seen in Danbury, Ct., was killed by William Bigham. It was a snake with two distinct heads, and was sunning itself on a West Street sidewalk when Mr. Bigham discovered it. The reptile was about two feet long and was of the striped adder variety, which is a poisonous one. Each head was on a neck two inches long.

Reports received by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, indicate that the total grain receipts at the ports of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore during August showed a gain of nearly four million bushels, if compared with similar arrivals in 1904. On the other hand, the inbound cereal movement at New Orleans, as well as at San Francisco and Tacoma, presented heavy losses by like comparisons.

Both "esplanade" and "boulevard" are military terms by origin. The original "boulevard" was a bulwark or horizontal part of the rampart and an "esplanade" was originally the glacis or slope of the counterscarp of a fortified place. A writer 200 years ago noted that the word boulevard was "now chiefly taken for the void space between the glacis of a citadel and the first houses of a town." Hence its extension to other "void spaces" suitable for promenading.

The latest production of the glorious climate of the west is a cat ranch. This old maid's paradise is located on Puget sound, and the ranch occupies the whole island. This was necessary in order that there may be no neighbors to complain, for the nightly concerts of several thousands of cats would naturally bring forth complaints and make the life of a municipal court judge one round of misery. Holbe Torlgen is the proprietor and he proposes to raise the cats for their fur.

It is not very often that a man traveling takes, among other pieces of hand baggage, a pony. And yet this is what D. V. Kern, of Kansas City, did when he went to Springfield, Ill. He checked it through in a little crate, and crate, pony and all weighed less than 40 pounds. It is probable that Mr. Kern has the smallest pony living. It is only a colt. The little Shetland is 24 inches high, 24 inches long and weighs just 30 pounds. It is no larger than an ordinary sized dog, and can be lifted and held in one hand.

With Alaska furs valued at $25,000 from Nulato, on the lower Yukon, Garrett Busch has arrived in Seattle after eight years spent in trafficking with the Indians in the wilderness which he was the first white man to penetrate as a trader. When Mr. Busch reached Nulato, August 12, 1897, with a miner's outfit as his sole possession, he foresaw in that gloomy solicitude a trade in the furs which protect animal life from Arctic winters which would exceed in returns the reasonable possibilities of mining ventures.

The failure of congress to pass a bill appropriating $24,000,000 for national aid to roadbuilding has in no wise abated the ardor of the good-roads propagandists. The movement is successful in many of the states and in smaller communities, where, after all, the larger work is to be done. Every enlightened state, county and township in the United States is certain, within a very few years, to be abundantly supplied with good roads; but for years and years to come there will be bad roads and indifferent roads.

SCHEME OF DEMOCRATS.

Bryan to Resume Control and Array the Poor Against the Rich.

In his speech at Akron a few days ago Secretary Taft indicated the national as well as the state importance of the pending campaign in Ohio. He pointed out that the defeat of Gov. Herrick would be heralded as the dawn of a new democracy, significant of what was to happen in the next congressional and presidential elections.

"The truth is," said he, "it is perfectly apparent that Mr. Bryan is gradually resuming control over the democratic party and proposes to assume the aggressive in a controversy in which he hopes to array the poor against the rich, to shake the present system of private property and freedom of contract, to cripple the federal courts that are now such a bulwark in the defense of the constitutional rights of individuals; to substitute for our present system of railways, privately owned and maintained, government railways, and in every way to introduce a system of paternalism which in the end would certainly paralyze the industrial and social progress of this country. This movement in favor of government ownership of public utilities to include the commercial railroads, is not a mere chimera. It finds its beginning in the proposition for municipal ownership of street railways by Mayor Dunne, of Chicago, by Mayor McClellan, of New York, and even still more in the attitude of Mr. Hearst in running against Mr. McClellan.

Secretary Taft said that Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, known as an advocate of the single tax system and of government ownership of public utilities, was an earnest supporter of the democratic ticket in Ohio, and, in his belief, the triumph of that ticket would bring Bryanism and Johnsonism to the front as the issues upon which we are to fight the next presidential campaign.

"It is the purpose and always has been the purpose of President Roosevelt, in the policies which he has recommended for adoption by congress, to meet these dangerous attacks upon our present economic, social and political conditions by remedying the actual evils which every one must recognize and thus entrenching ourselves against the assaults of socialism, the suppression of individualism and the instigation of class hatred based on alleged injustice and abuses that do not exist. He has, therefore, been most active in the promotion of prosecutions under the anti-trust law and in securing of legislation to aid in its enforcement. He believes, as every one must who knows anything about the subject, that perhaps the most serious abuse of the last two decades has been the unjust discrimination in railway rates as between individual shippers and as between different localities, and, indeed, in some instances by rates in excess of that which would be reasonable for the service itself."

STAND FOR THE TARIFF.

Protection Wins Victory and Business Interests Will Be Conserved.

The returns from the primaries show that the defenders of the tariff as it stands won a victory. They acted upon the common-sense judgment that it would be foolish to dam the swelling tide of national prosperity by opening the way to tinkering with a system under which trade is magnificently increasing and productive industry kept superbly busy. They perceived, says the Pittsburg Times, that when the "knockers" against the tariff were once permitted to attack it there could be no bounds placed to the extent to which they would endeavor to go. Realizing these facts the majority of the Massachusetts republicans decided that they would not risk the danger of the disturbance of business that would inevitably follow the subjection of the protective system to amendment. They have rendered a verdict that will encourage every interest dependent in the least degree on tariff stability and that must correspondingly discourage the organizations and individuals who intend to introduce the revision question at the coming session of congress.

Why the Haste?

At a time when this country is enjoying the greatest measure of prosperity the world has ever known; with a home market that is worth more than the combined international commerce of all nations, including our own; when agricultural and manufacturing industries are expanding and the volume of our foreign trade is increasing year by year, it is natural that other manufacturing nations should seek to enter our market. Germany has made a bluff at shutting out our foodstuffs, but our best customer, England, has made no threats; Russia has tried the game and failed; France is not making any attempt to force a reciprocity treaty, although one negotiated with her was defeated in the senate two years ago. Why, then should we haste to surrender to Germany alone when, as has been shown, there is little danger from that source?—Milwaukee Sentinel.

☞President Roosevelt has written entertainingly about winning the west. And now he appears to have won the south. A remarkable incident occurred in Richmond, Va., when at a meeting of representative democrats of the state an impassioned appeal was made to the people to stand by the president in the policies which promise so much for the country and the south. As the president's motives and purposes are thoroughly understood the south perceives that no one has its interests more profoundly at heart.—Troy Times.

ALL RIGHT IN PHILIPPINES.

The Very Opposite of What the "Anti-Imperialists" Say Is True.

On the eve of his departure for the Philippines recently, Gen. Leonard Wood said:

"The Philippines are now under the best government they were ever under, and I cannot see what grievances the Filipinos have. There is now no trouble on the islands."

How often, says the Washington Star, the simple fact here stated is overlooked or perverted by the anti-imperialists in the discussion of this question! One might easily suppose from their misgivings that the United States had brutally "butted in" at Manila, overturned a government of progress altogether acceptable to the people, set them back in all their aspirations, and inaugurated a mercenary scheme for the exploitation of the archipelago. Their favorite representation of the case is the buying of people at so much a head, and bringing them to consent and obedience at the point of the bayonet.

The very opposite of that is true We found the Filipinos under the harrow. They had never known what good government was. Tyrannized over in the Spanish fashion, they were unsettled and unhappy, given to violent outbreaks against authority, and dangerous alike to themselves and to their masters. They hailed us as deliverers, and it was with the greatest difficulty that we restrained them from their purpose to massacre those who remained of their late oppressors.

Did we bocme oppressors ourselves? Was the change one only of hard masters? How can anybody familiar with the facts say that? We resisted with force, as a matter of necessity, Aguinaldo's treachery, but since the putting down of the revolt led by him we have addressed ourselves steadily and successfully to the betterment of the conditions of the people. The Filipinos, for the first time in the history of the islands, are participating in the conduct of their own affairs, and looking forward with confidence to a larger share in government at an early day. A popular assembly is only two years off, and education is the watchword everywhere.

Gen. Wood states the case conservatively. Not only are "the Filipinos under the best government they were ever under," but in its accomplishments and purposes it is the best government ever vouchsafed to a people incapable of governing themselves. We have proceeded on lines so advanced and beneficent that we have been criticised as benevolent dreamers and doctrinaires by powers that have preceded us in the government of oriental peoples.

SHOULD BECOME INFORMED

Revisionists Show Their Need of Enlightenment on Tariff Facts.

The demand for free raw materials is an old one. It was the democratic cry during their campaign preceding the enactment of the Wilson bill, and their theory was incorporated in that bill, so far as they dared to go with it. But the demoralization of the home market, which resulted from too low tariff rates on manufactured articles, so reduced the demand upon manufacturers for finished goods, says the Springfield Union, that they had little occasion to use free raw materials. Under the Wilson law free raw materials averaged but 26 per cent. of the total imports, while under the Dingley law they average 31.8 per cent. It must always be borne in mind that what is free raw material for the manufacturer is the finished product of the producer, and the producer demands the same degree of protection that is accorded the manufacturer. The manufacturer of woolens would like free wool, but how about the American farmer who grows the wool? The revisionists in the republican party want to make sure that in the pursuit of their ideas they do not find themselves in the democratic camp. They would do well to turn occasionally to the pages of tariff history and note the results of the Wilson bill.

☞"Tariff revision" was the cry that resulted in Grover Cleveland finding his way into the white house. It is not necessary to recall what followed. Most of us have sad occasion to remember those times.—Marion (Ia.) News.

☞All that the Massachusetts republicans have to say in their state platform on the subject of tariff revision is preceded by an ironclad indorsement of the protective idea. If the Massachusetts free-traders want to change their views, there is room for them on this broad foundation.—St. Louis Globe-Democratic.

PACKERS' PLEA IS A SURPRISE

BEEF BARONS ASTONISH GOVERNMENT'S LAW OFFICERS BY A NEW PLEA IN BAR.

AN AGREEMENT WITH GARFIELD

Counsel for the Packers Claims that Commissioner Garfield Promised Them Immunity from Prosecution if They Aided His Investigation.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Immunity from prosecution under the pending indictment returned by a federal grand jury several months ago, is claimed by J. Ogden Armour and the other packer defendants in which they are charged with being promoters of the so-called "Beef Trust" in an additional plea in bar filed Thursday afternoon by Attorney John S. Miller, for the packers.

The new plea, which came as a surprise to the government, sets up as facts that when Commissioner Garfield, of the department of commerce and labor, investigated the beef packing business he promised the packers that in whatever testimony they gave without being under oath, or whatever documentary evidence they voluntarily produced, the defendants should have the same rights and immunities as if they had testified under oath and compulsion.

Under this new plea Attorney Miller hopes to establish the fact that there was an agreement between the packers and the government that they should testify and produce evidence without being subpenaed, or the oath being administered, but that as far as immunity was concerned, it should be considered as if they had been subpenaed and taken the oath.

The allegation of an agreement between Commissioner Garfield and the packers was a surprise to District Attorney Morrison and Assistant Attorney General Pagin; and it was said last night that Commissioner Garfield had been asked concerning exactly what occurred during the investigation into the beef business.

Methodist Bishops Render a Verdict Against a Teacher of Theology—Trial for Heresy May Follow.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church will inform the trustees of the Boston university school of theology on next Monday that the plea of the trustees for the retention of Prof. Hinckley G. Mitchell in the chair of Old Testament criticism in that school cannot be granted.

This decision on the part of the bishops was taken at Washington last week, where they heard intercession for Prof. Mitchell by President Huntington, Dean Warren and Dr. Phillips, secretary of the board of trustees of the Boston school. The vote of the bishops was unanimous against the continuance of Prof. Mitchell in his chair. The bishops had previously decided that Prof. Mitchell could not hold his chair.

Evidence of four students and Prof. Mitchell's book, "The World Before Abraham," formed the basis of his condemnation. The case was reopened, with the result that he is again condemned, and there is no other appeal.

It is stated on the best authority that a heresy trial in Prof. Mitchell's conference—that of northern New York—may result now, and it is further said that the logical sequence of the ousting of the Boston higher critic is that Prof. Terry, of Northwestern university, at Evanston, Ill., who has written a book on "The Shortcomings of Jesus" is likely to hear from the board of bishops.

A Federal Judge Declines to Restrain Royal Arcanum's Supreme Council in the Matter of New Rates.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 3.—The injunction asked for to prevent the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum from putting into effect the rates adopted at the Atlantic City meeting and later ratified at Put-in-Bay, O., was denied by Federal Judge Clark yesterday and the bill of the complainants dismissed. The court held that it was not clear under the law of Massachusetts, in which state the order was incorporated, that this plan of assessment and the effect on members impairs the obligation of the contract, and until it did so appear, the court should not interfere.

Boston, Nov. 3.—Attorney General Parker, of Massachusetts, has been asked to petition the supreme court for an injunction restraining the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum from enforcing the assessment rates adopted at the convention at Atlantic City last April and ratified at Put-in-Bay, O., in August.

PARALYSIS CURED

Case Seemed Hopeless but Yielded to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Kenney has actually escaped from the paralytic's fate to which he seemed a short time ago hopelessly doomed. The surprising report has been fully verified and some important details secured in a personal interview with the recent sufferer.

"The doctor," said Mr. Kenney, "told me that if I wanted to live any length of time I would have to give up work altogether, and he told my friends that the paralysis which had begun would in time involve my whole body."

"Just how were you afflicted at this time?" Mr. Kenney was asked.

"Well, I had first hot, and then cold and clammy feelings, and at times my body felt as if needles were being stuck into it. These sensations were followed by terrible pains, and again I would have no feeling at all, but a numbness would come over me, and I would not be able to move. The most agonizing tortures came from headaches and a pain in the spine.

"Night after night I could not get my natural sleep and my system was wrecked by the strain of torturing pains and the effect of the opiates I was forced to take to induce sleep. As I look back on the terrible suffering I endured during this period I often wonder how I retained my reason through it all.

"But relief came quickly when I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The very first box seemed to help me, and seven boxes made me entirely well. There can be no doubt about the thoroughness of my cure, for I have worked steadily ever since and that is nearly four years."

Mr. Kenney is at present employed by the Merrimac Hat Company and resides at 101 Aubin street, Amesbury, Mass. The remedy which he used with such satisfactory results, is sold by all druggists, or direct by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N Y.

People Will Drink Coffee When It "Does Such Things."

"I began to use Postum because the old kind of coffee had so poisoned my whole system that I was on the point of breaking down, and the doctor warned me that I must quit it.

My chief ailment was nervousness and heart trouble.

Any unexpected noise would cause me the most painful palpitation, make me faint and weak.

I had heard of Postum and began to drink it when I left off the old coffee. It began to help me just as soon as the old effects of the other kind of coffee passed away. It did not stimulate me for awhile, and then leave me weak and nervous as coffee used to do. Instead of that it built up my strength and supplied a constant vigor to my system which I can always rely on. It enables me to do the biggest kind of a day's work without getting tired. All the heart trouble, etc., has passed away.

RIOT REIGNS IN RUSSIAN CITIES

HUNDREDS OF LIVES LOST IN ENCOUNTERS BETWEEN THE MOBS AND SOLDIERS.

A GREAT SLAUGHTER AT ODESSA

Reports from Many of the Larger Cities Show that as Usual the Jews Were the Especial Victims of the Spirit of Murder and Pillage.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—Though yesterday passed in comparative quiet in St. Petersburg and Moscow, dispatches from all parts of the empire report disorders in many cities, with a heavy total of dead and wounded. The people while celebrating their new found freedom were in many instances set upon by Cossacks and police, while sometimes the spirit of mob violence broke forth and the lower elements of the population gave themselves up to pillage and destruction.

The most serious disorders apparently occurred at Odessa, where hundreds of persons are reported to have been killed or wounded and where the rioting is expected to flare out in a repetition of the slaughter of last July, and at Kazan.

A deplorable feature of the news from the interior is that anti-Jewish uprisings have occurred in many places, especially in South Russia, where the populace vented its hatred of the Jews by sacking their stores and clubbing the members of the race, in some cases resorting to the torch.

Warsaw, Nov. 2.—Twenty persons were killed and upwards of a hundred wounded in the encounters last night between the mobs and the troops. At 10 o'clock a crowd gathered before the town hall and demanded the release of political prisoners. The chief of police liberated 300 who had been arrested during the last few days, but refused to release 12 who were arrested by order of the central government. The crowd then commenced to smash the doors and windows of the town hall, whereupon the chief of police telephoned the barracks for assistance and a force of hussars and Cossacks with a battery of artillery galloped to the scene. The hussars charged the mobs, killing 16 persons and wounding 73. Later there was an encounter between infantry and a mob in the Bank Square, when the troops fired into the crowd, killing four and wounding 30.

London, Nov. 2.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Kieff in a dispatch dated November 1, says:

"Jew baiting started at midnight. Strong patrols passed frequently, but they looked smilingly on and gave no help.

"The Jews fired from the blaconies of their homes on the troops and on the processions of loyalists, the soldiers returning the fire. The residences and offices of many wealthy Jews were wrecked. The Jews now threaten to massacre the Christians."

CLARK'S LAST STATEMENT.

Cashier of the Enterprise National Bank Laid the Blame for His Ruin Upon W. H. Andrews.

Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—The following statement of T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise national bank of Allegheny, written a few hours before he committed suicide, was made public last night:

"Dearest Wife and Children: In ten hours or less I will be in the other world. You have been a dear good wife to me. Andrews has worked my ruin. Dear wife, keep all the insurance for yourself and babies. How hard it is to leave you all. I have made a desperate effort to keep things going until I would get the road financed, but it has been too slow. The examiner is here and I am ruined. Do forgive me; it is not my fault. I have been shamefully robbed. The bank will get everything but the life insurance.

"Your husband, Lee."

Clark committed suicide on the morning of October 18 and the above letter, written in pencil on one of the bank's letter heads, was found in the dead man's home by his 14-year-old daughter and turned over to his attorney. It was evidently written at the bank the night before the suicide.

Lee Clark, the deceased cashier, was treasurer of the Santa Fe Central railroad, of which W. H. Andrews was president.

MURDERED BY CHINESE.

Five Members of a Presbyterian Mission are Slaughtered at Lienchow.

Hong Kong, Nov. 2.—Five American missionaries have been murdered at Lienchow. Lienchow is a town of 12,000 people, situated in the western portion of the province of Kwang Tung.

Washington, Nov. 2.—William White and Clarence Whiteley, the latter a negro, were killed by an explosion in the power house of the Potomac Electric Co. yesterday and George Tramble, William Hall and Luther Butler, all white, were injured.

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 2.—Joseph V. Thompson has sold 1,300 acres of coal lands in the central part of the Connellsville coke regions to Roy H. and Paul J. Rainey, of New York. The purchase price was $1,500,000.

SETS DAY TO GIVE THANKS.

President Roosevelt Issues His Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Washington.—President Roosevelt on Thursday, November 2, issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, saying:

"When nearly three centuries ago the first settlers came to the country which has now become this great republic they fronted not only hardships and privation, but terrible risk to their lives. In those grim years the custom grew of setting apart one day in each year for a special service of thanksgiving to the Almighty for preserving the people through the changing seasons. The custom has now become national and hallowed by immemorial usage.

"It is eminently fitting that once a year our people should set apart a day for praise and thanksgiving to the giver of good, and, at the same time, that they express their thankfulness for the abundant mercies received should manfully acknowledge their shortcomings and pledge themselves solemnly and in good faith to strive to overcome them. During the past year we have been blessed with bountiful crops. Our business prosperity has been great. No other people has ever stood on as high a level of material well-being as ours now stands. We are not threatened by foes from without. The foes from whom we should pray to be delivered are our own passions, appetites and follies; and against these there is always need that we should war.

"Therefore, I now set apart Thursday, the 30th day of this November, as a day of thanksgiving for the past and of prayer for the future, and on that day I ask that throughout the land the people gather in their homes and places of worship and in rendering thanks unto the Most High for the manifold blessings of the past year consecrate themselves to a life of cleanliness, honor and wisdom, so that this nation may do its allotted work on the earth in a manner worthy of those who founded it and of those who preserve it.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this second day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and five, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and thirtieth.

COILS DRAW TIGHTER.

Evidence Against Men Held in Connection with the Suit Case Mystery Accumulates--Doctor Arrested.

New York, Nov. 4.—Superintendent Pierce, of the Boston police, and Chief Watts, of the Massachusetts state police, arrived here Friday, accompanied by the witnesses in the suit case mystery who left Boston with the police officials. When the Boston party arrived at police headquarters the prisoners were brought out for inspection.

When the cab driver saw Crawford he identified him as one of the two men who were in his cab with suit cases on the night the girl's body was thrown into the harbor. He also identified Howard as Crawford's companion that night.

After this identification had been completed the two pawnbrokers and the pawnbroker's clerk were admitted to the prisoners' presence and identified them both.

The prisoners were arraigned in the Tombs court and were remanded back to police headquarters until Monday. The men were held on an affidavit charging conspiracy, based on Howard's confession.

Boston, Nov. 4.—Dr. Percy D. McLeod, of 187 Huntington avenue, this city, was arrested Friday on the charge of abortion in connection with the suit case mystery. The arrest was on information furnished by Chief Watts. Dr. McLeod is held on the charge that he was the person who dismembered the body of Susan Geary.

A conference between Dr. McLeod and officials lasted until 5 o'clock. At its conclusion Dr. McLeod was locked up.

A telephone message received here from Superintendent Pierce at New York said that a confession had been obtained both from Crawford and Howard. In this, it is alleged, the men stated that the bag containing the head of the victim had been dropped from the East Boston Ferryboat.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Cooler Weather Has Improved the Tone of Business in Many Lines.

New York, Nov. 4.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Cooler weather in most sections of the country has stimulated retail demand for seasonable merchandise, improving the tone of business where there has been more or less irregularity, but reports are still somewhat mixed as to collections. Supplementary orders are coming to the primary markets for wearing apparel.

Industrial conditions are little disturbed by labor controversies. Thus far work is scarcely interrupted and more cases of advances in wages are reported.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 202, against 229 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 34, against 27 last year.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAINT.

Important Memorandum.—The painter is the most important factor in painting. A job complete, done by a good painter, with the best quality of paint, costing say $50.00 ($40.00 labor, $30.00 paint), will last five years. The same paint applied by a cheaper ($20.00 labor, $30.00 paint), will last only two years. Thus the "per-year-cost" of the good painter's job is $12.00—the ... painter's, $20.00.

Above all, USE GOOD PAINT!

The oil! linseed oil! Just pure linseed is the "life"—the one great requisite of good paint for which there is no substitute—and the sure way to get the pure, fresh linseed oil is to buy the oil and separately. For every gallon of Kinloch Paint buy one gallon of linseed oil. This makes two gallons of paint, ready for use. You then know that the paint you're putting on your house is alive—"the genuine oil is in it," and paint is not paint unless it contains 50% of really pure oil. We will further explain the virtues of Kinloch Paint if you will call and see us.

Kinloch PEACE'S MIX. SET PAINT MINER HOUSE PAINT

Cameron County Teachers' Institute.

October 30th, 1905—Afternoon Session.

Institute was called to order by the President Miss Collins.

Devotional Exercises conducted by the Rev. O. S. Metzler.

Music by Hon. I. K. Hockley.

Talk on the "Correct Use of English." Prof. B. W. Griffith of Clarion State Normal School. The right use of both spoken and written English in the lower grades in public schools The teacher of English has to contend with outside environment and with a lack of attention or carefulness in speech. The most common mistakes are made in the use of nouns and pronouns, because they are more inflected than the other parts of speech. Select and teach the essential parts or the Grammar.

History, by Prof. Smith Burnham of West Chester Normal School. Among his many excellent points were the following: Teach children to be intelligent and honest citizens. Teach definite impressions of time and place. Teach by stories of lives of great men—full of inspiration to the pupils.

Intermission.

Singing, conducted by the Hon. I. K. Hockley.

The talk on "Theory of School," by Dr. A. J. Kinnaman, President Normal College, Dansville, Ind., was presented in a scholarly manner. Among other things he said: "A school is an organization of both teacher and pupil with the purpose of learning, development, progress and enlargement of the one thought the influence and direction of the other.

Institute closed by music.

Tuesday, Oct. 31, 1905—Forenoon Session.

Institute was called to order at the usual time by President, Miss Collins.

Devotional Services were conducted by the Rev. Robert McCaslin.

Singing by the institute.

Miss Margaret Flynn, teacher of dsawing in in the Ridway Public Schools, gave an interesting talk on drawing, in the first and second grades.

Prof. B. W. Griffith, continued his talk on "Composition." He said, "The pupils difficulty is the teachers difficulty. Teach the pupils to express themselves correctly, intelligently and effectively. Composition developes the creative powers.

Intermission.

Singing by the Institute.

Prof. Smith Burnham, talked upon the "Interpretation of Facts." He said "Teachers should assist the pupils in acquiring the meaning of words, since very often the dictionary is more confusing to the average pupil than the original word."

Dr. Kinnaman continued his interesting talk upon the Theory of the School. "Education consists of the knowledge that has been stored up by preceding generations and each succeeding age adds its small quota."

Afternoon Session.

Singing by the Institute.

Miss Flynn continued her interesting talk on drawing through the 3rd and 4th grades. She said: "Pupils should be taught the different tints and the use of water colors at this period.

Prof. B. W. Griffith concluded his excellent talk upon Language and Composition. He laid great stress upon the importance of thorough work in daily reading and occasional work in Technical work in Grammar and Composition.

Prof. Smith Burnham gave an able and brilliant talk on the Elizabethian Sea Kings and the effects of their daring deeds upon American History.

Solo by Prof. B. W. Griffith.

Intermission.

Dr. Kinnaman continued his talk upon the Theory of the School. He said: "Before we can get anything from the Educational Institution, we must take from it some of the facts which preceding generations have stored away. After which we will be able to add our knowledge for succeeding generations."

Wednesday Morning, Nov. 1st.

Institute called to order by the President, Miss Collins.

Devotional Exercises led by Rev. T. W. Twichell.

Drill in music by the Hon. I. K. Hockley was much appreciated by the Institute.

Miss Flynn continued her interesting talk on drawing.

How to Stimulate and Maintain Interest was ably discussed by Prof. Smith Burnham, who showed how the teacher may maintain an interest in the school by teaching current history.

Intermission.

Singing by the Institute.

Theory of the School by Dr. Kinnaman was very ably discussed. One of the important points ably discussed was: Be sure that you, the teacher are right, then it will be very easy to succeed n maintaining order and interest. Be frank and free to acknowledgo mistakes to your school.

Shakespeare, The Man and the Poet, by Prof. Frank C. Lockwood, Allegany College, Meadville, Pa. Shakespeare's literary life may be devided into four periods, in each of which he produced a different type and style of works. He was the supreme genious of the human race. His creative works, his power to depict real life are unrevealed.

Afternoon Session.

Singing by Institute.

Drawing—Miss Flynn gave an interesting talk upon how to draw plants and fruits from objects.

A Struggle for Empire—Prof. Smith Burnham graphicially described the struggle between the French and English in America for the possession of an Empire which struggle culminated in the fall of Quebec and the supremacy of the English.

Intermission.

Music by Institute.

Talk by Dr. A. J. Kinnaman on Temperaments in Teaching. He spoke of the four distinct temperaments. First—Sanguine and talked upon the first one illustrating by familiar example.

Talk by Supt. Sweeney, of Elk county.

Also by Supt. Lynch, of St. Marys Schools. "How to Interpret a Literary Masterpiece.

Prof. Frank C. Lockwood, in the beginning of his talk he said reading furnishes more real pleasure than anything else in life. A few of the other thonghts were the test of a classic is whether or not it will stand many readings. One must study the words—the phrasing—the figures of speech.

Ivanhoe, Scarlet Letter, Silas Marner.

Thursday morning, Nov. 2nd, 1905.

The institute was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. M. Robertson.

Singing by Institute.

Prof. Smith Burnham talked upon the expansion in American History. In an able and interesting talk he discussed the westward march of the early settlers in their search for new homes. "The American Policy of Expansion is the same to-day as it was in the days of Thos. Jefferson."

Dr. Kinnaman continued his talk on temperment. He drew some fine word pictures of the different types showing the peculiarities.

Intermission.

Song by Institute.

"The Cultural Value of Literature," Prof. Frank C. Lockwood. Every classic must breath a living truth in order to stand the test of time, and be read by future generations.

Afternoon Session.

Singing by Institute.

Prof. Smith Burnham spoke upon, "The Political Machine and How It Works." Prof. Burnham made a strong plea for instruction in the common school which will teach our boys and girls to rise above party and vote for men who are honest and upright regardless of their political faith.

Song by Institute.

Dr. A. J. Kinnaman spoke upon the "Relations of the teachers and directors. The teacher should have the courage of his convictions and should adopt himself to his environments as far as possble. Have faith in your work.

Singing by Institute.

"Longfellow, America's Most Popular Poet." The poems of this famous Author were briefly reviewed by Prof. Frank C. Lockwood who showed that Longfellow had fully earned his widespread popularity by the excellence of his many great works.

Friday morning, Nov. 3rd, 1905.

Institute was called to order by the Pres., Miss Collins.

Song by the Institute.

Devotional Services led by the Rev. J. Nelson Bennett.

"Advantages of a Higher Education," by Dr. A. J. Kinnaman. The speaker showed how the educated man's chances of success in life over the uneducated were increased and his earning capacity increased. An investment in Education is the best investment a boy or girl can make. It always pays the best while the capital remains intact."

Every Ounce You Eat.

Every ounce of food you eat that fails to digest does a pound of harm. It turns the entire meal into poison. This not only deprives the blood of the necessary tissues—building material, but it poisons it. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is a perfect digestant. It digests the food regardless of the condition of the stomach. It allows that organ to rest and get strong again. Relieves Belching, Heart Burn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, etc. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

The girl who feels herself above her position and does not even condescend to fill it adequately.

Nature Needs But Little.

Nature needs only a Little Early Riser now and then to keep the bowels clean, the liver active, and the system free from bile, headaches, constipation, etc. The famous little pills "Early Risers" are pleasant in effect and perfect in action. They never gripe or sicken, but tone and strengthen the liver and kidneys. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

CHARLES C. FAY.

Sunday being the 80th auniversary of the birth of Mr. C. C. Fay, of this place, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Norris invited a number of old-time friends to celebrate the occasion at their residence, East Allegany Avenue. Among the guests present were Mrs. J. S. Wiley, Mrs. Chas Zarps, Mrs. Johnson, niece, of Corry, Pa., Mr. J. F. Parsons, Mr and Mrs. Riley Warner, Hon. J. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Green, Mr. and Mrs. U. A. Paimer, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Felt, Mr and Mrs. S. L Barton and Mr and Mrs. H H. Mullin. An elegant dinner was served at 2:30, gotten up in Mrs. Norris' elegant style. Of course all enjoyed the sumptuous repast, while talking over old times in Emporium, many interesting incidents being related by Mr. Fay.

Mr. Fay came to Emporium in January 1859 to take charge of the Cross mill. He stopped at the Dyke Hotel, which stood just opposite Mr. Fay's property. No man has been more closely identified with Emporium than Chas. C. Fay, who has always held the esteem of our cirizens. He bears his eighty years well and looks as young as he did twenty years ago. The guests departed at a seasonable hour, wishing Mr. Fay many more birthdays and continued good health; also extending to Mr. and Mrs. T.H. Norris thanks for the pleasant occasion.

"DO IT TO-DAY!"

"And to think that ten months ago I looked like this! I owe it to German Syrup."

¶The time-worn injnnction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. ¶Take some reliable remedy for it TO-DAY—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschee's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. ¶No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. ¶New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists. 2

Kill Catamount in Shanty.

COUDERSPORT, PA., Nov. 7.—To be in an old shanty at midnight with a growling hungry catamount was the startling experience of Major Seibert and Irvin Harney, local hunters in the Morris Run district last Friday night. They had trailed a wounded bear for nearly 18 miles, and at nightfall came to a shanty-like structure that at one time had been used as a lumber camp and school house.

The door and all the windows except one were boarded up, and through this the men climbed in, bunked down on boughs in the farthest corner and fell asleep.

Late at night Harney was awakened by something coming in contact with his hand, and as he sat up he heard the sounds of retreating footsteps across the splintering, unaven floor. An instant later his ear was greeted with a low growl, and then he knew that some wild animal had found its way into the ramshackle building. He nudged Seiert awake, whispered the information to him, and as Seibert lighted a hemlock bough and held it aloft Harney grasped his gun and prepared to shoot.

The rays of the flambeau disclosed the form of a large catamount near the open window, evidently about to leap out. Harney fired, wounding the animal, which crouched and prepared for a spring toward the men. They were hardly ten feet away. A second shot, however, finished the beast.

Resolutions of Respect.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His wise providence to remove by death the Honorable George A. Walker, for many years a communicant of Emmanuel Parish, a member of the Vestry and Treasurer of the Parish; be it therefore Resolved, (1) That we, the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Emmanuel Parish, do hereby record our high appreciation of the worthy character of the decersed, whose life was an example of high-minded integrity and honor, of fearless honesty in positions of high trust and influence, of faithful attendance to duty and of self-reliant effort; who was wise in counsel, strong in judgment, steadfast of purpose.

(2) That we record our grateful recognition of his devotion to Emmanuel Parish and of his faithful services on its behalf, and our sense of loss in his removal.

(3) That we extend to the family of the deceased the assurance of our sympathy in their bereavement.

A Very Exclusive Order.

The Order of the Swan is a unique decoration. It has nothing to do with "Lohengrin," but was founded in 1443 by Elector Frederick II. of Brandenburg, surnamed the "Iron Jawed."

Of all the orders of knighthood this is most remarkable, inasmuch as only one solitary member in Europe is entitled to wear it, and she is the wife of the reigning Prussian monarch—the German empress. The insignia is very beautiful. It consists of a gold chain set with diamonds, alternated by a ruby heart, to which is suspended a medallion of the Madonna and Child and to which in turn is suspended a silver swan surrounded by a ring or frame of exquisite pearls. With this goes a superb star to be worn on the left shoulder.

Should the empress become a widow she would be compelled to relinquish the insignia and her membership of the Swan to the present crown princess. This order has been worn in turn by the wife of every sovereign occupying the throne of Prussia since 1443, and it is an object of intense pride in the royal family.

Lightning as a Rock Driller.

"Lightning, when in the mood, has an ugly habit of drilling," writes an English observer. "It will drill the hardest rock—rock which would turn cold steel—and not only drill, but vitrify it. They have found in Cumberland channels thirty feet deep and from two to four inches in circumference. The interior was hard and glazed where the solid substance had been melted by the stabbing flashes. Artificial experiment has shown that a powerful shock from a battery will vitrify finely powdered glass, but not feldspar or quartz. The lightning, however, does it in the manner described, not in one place, but in many, showing that before striking the ground it divided into several branches, each strong enough to penetrate and liquefy the solid rock."

It's ever the battle for that day's bread,
the battle with fate and men,
It's ever the bearing home at night the dole that the day hath won,
It's ever the breathing space then sleep
when the battle that day is done.

But praise God there's bees a humming
And a tousle head a-coming,
Don't you hear her feet a-drumming
All the day?
Don't you know she's watching, swing ing
On the gate, for you and singing?
Don't you feel her fingers clinging,
Don't you? Say?

Oh, it's ever the grind your soul abhors,
the wordid fight for bread;
But yet you smile and lilt a tune till the
the work of the day is sped,
The dusty, musty, disheartening work that 'tis ever your fate to do—
Yes, you lilt a song and you do a step as a memory comes to you.

For you know there's bees a-humming
And a tousle head a-coming,
Don't you hear her feet a-drumming
Out to you?
Don't you kneel to clasp her to you?
Don't you feel a thrill run through you
Sweetest that you ever knew? You
Bet you do!

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

CHAPTER XXIII.—CONTINUED.

The past two years had worked a great change in Tonti. He was no longer the gay soldier of fortune, seeking in the battlefield the means of livelihood and material advancement, unsettled in purpose, selling the service of his sword for a sum of gold and a promotion, realizing that his life was probably a short, and hence preferably, a merry one. The harsh struggle with the rugged forces of nature, the primeval freshness of a new country, the close companionship through many dangers with a soul such as La Salle's, untarnished with the commoner littlenesses of the mankind he had hitherto known, and vibrating with the devotion of a noble life to a high purpose, the association day by day with Renee, whose being unconsciously revealed its manifold complexity and beauty to his wondering eyes—all had served to bring about an inner metamorphosis that he knew not of, one that if he had studied himself carefully he would not have been able to analyze. Its only revelation was in the change of thought and purpose of which he was dimly conscious. The coarse and gross qualities of the camp, the blighting contaminations of the court, all that tended to the rearing of standards unworthy of the best in man (that tiny kernel of the divine implanted first within their hearts, the stifling or cherishing of which constitutes the sum of human responsibility) had slipped from him as an old garment. New yearnings, new ends, new ideals, had arisen to take the place of the old. He realized that a field of glorious opportunity was his; that his would be the task of winning a new land, fairer, richer than the old; a task whose far-reaching consequences for good or ill were immeasurable. On the proper, loyal, high-minded achievement of his labor might depend the future greatness of a nation. The exalted passion felt for Renee that, unknown to him, had been the main source of the great changes wrought within, hopeless as it was as to its desired procurement, did not harden him with despair. It rather spurred him on in the invincible resolve to live his life, whatever it might be, so that he might remain worthy of her esteem. This it was that helped him to resist the temptation to be disloyal; to thrust from his thirsty lips the draught he could not taste without dishonor.

At length the propitious winds that carried them along so peacefully brought their little craft within sight of the distant promontory of St. Ignace of Michilimackinac. Here they disembarked and found a hearty welcome. The smallpox epidemic had subsided, but there were numerous sick and wretched ones among the Indians for Renee and her companion to assist in tending.

The day after their arrival Tonti busied himself in making certain arrangements for the storing and forwarding of any furs that might be sent by him or La Salle from the country of the Illini.

While Tonti was thus engaged, an Indian boy came to him from Renee begging that he follow him to the hut of an aged dying Ottawa. Tonti soon entered the squalid lodge and found there a priest, Renee, and one of the nuns.

"I have sent for you," whispered Renee, "because the sick man has called incessantly, ever since he was told of your arrival, for the French captain, saying that he had a message for you."

Tonti approached the heap of skins that served for the sufferer's bed. He lay in a stupor, occasionally arousing himself so far as to utter a moan or mutter a few inarticulate words. The sound of Tonti's voice seemed to recall him to consciousness, for he grasped his hand and spoke in a weak yet clear tone.

"The French brother and the Black Gowns have been my friends. I will tell the French captain what I see." Then closing his eyes, he was silent a moment before continuing. "I see the broad fields of the Illini. I hear the sound of the braves returning from the hunt, the shouts of the camp and the feast. I look to the rising sun and see a cloud. It grows nearer and larger. It takes the form of a bear, a beaver and a hawk. It passes over the earth and there is nothing left. The maize stalks are torn and withered. The lodges are burned; a thousand scalps are drying in the air. The village is no more. I see four Frenchmen. One is the friend of the great

"DO NOT GO."

Onontio. Another is a Black Gown. They flee before the cloud. They wander alone; they are in need of food. They cry for help, but there is none, and the cloud has swept all away. I see—I see—" but the hand relaxed its grasp, the voice sank low and ceased, a convulsive catching of the breath, and the message was delivered; the messenger had gone.

Renee quickly followed Tonti to the outer air. "What can this mean?" she asked anxiously, as she saw a look of perplexity and disquietude upon his face.

"I know not, but I fear much," was the reply. "The bear, the badger, and the hawk are three of the most powerful clans of the Iroquois. It may be that they are invading the Illini or have already done so. In either case I must hasten on my way. Perhaps my arrival may save some impending disaster to La Salle. But after all, it may be nothing but the dying delirium of an ignorant savage. Come, mademoiselle, do not be alarmed, I shall reach there in time, never fear," and he looked reassuringly into Renee's troubled face.

She was strangely agitated. "Ah, mon ami," she cried, "do not go until you learn some news of what has happened. La Salle may be dead and you will but arrive to fall a victim too. Send out your scouts that they may report to you what they learn. They can bear succor if such is needed as well as you. Or if you will go," she continued pleadingly, "take me also. Let us all go together. Is it not my duty to be where there may be wounds to heal and sickness to relieve? What would become of me were the Sieur de la Salle to be lost and you meet your death in a vain task of rescuing him?"

A great wave of feeling passed over Tonti. He struggled hard to retain his footing. Why should he not tell her now how much it meant to him that she should not expose herself to further danger, but wait for his return? Tell her all the full story of his love, promising that if he found La Salle to be lost he would quickly return and claim her for his own? If the lower country were all ablaze with savage warfare he could hardly hope with his small band to avail aught in defense or rescue; annihilation for them all would be certain. Why could he not snatch a few moments of joy before plunging into the whirlpool of danger and woe before him? But as he strove against himself the words of the dying Indian rang clear upon his ear again, "They cry for help, but there is none." His comrade, still confiding in his faithfulness, turned to him with a cry; even in his last extremity, not knowing where his lieutenant might be, he sought his aid. Should he fail him now?

Renee watched the struggle through tear-dimmed eyes and saw the victory won. Seizing her hand, he said hurriedly:

"You know not what you ask, mademoiselle. You would be the first to despise me were I to yield;" and hastily raising her hand to his lips, he strode rapidly away. Renee kissed the spot where his lips had been, and, sinking to the ground, burst into tears of mingled despair and joy.

The next day when his little canoe passed through the straits, a lone figure waved adieu from the edge of the highest cliff back of the settlement, and when the tiny speck had disappeared from view repaired to the chapel, there to pray for the safety of one about to encounter great peril.

Tonti reached Fort Miami at the mouth of the river in safety and there found his men who had preceded him in a larger vessel. They were all well and had made a good-sized fleet of canoes, but were much disturbed at rumors they had heard that, during the early summer, the Iroquois had made a grand invasion of the country of the Illini and had driven them from their homes, murdering and scattering the tribes. Tonti, with this corroboration of the Indian's vision, was still more alarmed for the safety of his friend, and pushed on with all speed. They found plenty of deer and buffalo, and were thus enabled to lay in a bountiful supply of meat. As they drew near the great town of the Illini their fears were confirmed. Instead of the noise of a great encampment they found silence. The meadow below the high rock was one scene of devastation and ruin. The charred remains of the lodges were all of human habitation that remained standing. Bones and skulls were strewn about in great abundance. The Indian graves elevated on four poles had been broken down and their contents scattered. A horde of wolves fled from the ghastly repast at their approach, while a crowd of buzzards wheeled above their heads with angry cries at being thus disturbed.

The rumors were indeed true. While making an attack on the eastern white settlements another portion of the ferocious Iroquois confederacy had gone westward to annihilate their red enemies. No signs of human life were there left to tell of the disaster that had befallen. Tonti hastened with his men on down to the widening in the river near which Fort Creve-Couer had been erected. This, too, was a ruin, although destroyed by other hands than the Iroquois. The uncompleted vessel still stood on the stocks, on whose side was scrawled, "Nous sommes tous sauvages." This told the story of further treachery and desertion on the part of La Salle's followers. Leaving the most of his party at this spot, Tonti continued his journey with Pompon and a canoe full of picked men. They descended the river until they reached the Mississippi, but no traces of La Salle were to be found. As they progressed they could discern the spot where the retreating Illini had camped on one side of the stream, while on the opposite side their foes had kept a sharp watch over their retreat. Returning again, they rested with their entire force at the site of Fort Creve-Couer. The autumn was rapidly passing, so they finally determined to go back to Fort Miami and take up winter quarters, sending out search parties in all directions to try and discover any trace of La Salle and the remnant of his men.

CHAPTER XXIV.

SHOWS THAT THE LIFE OF AN EXPLORER IS FAR FROM TAME.

After Tonti's departure for Quebec, La Salle had proceeded to occupy his force as best he might until his return. The building of a vessel progressed but slowly, owing to continual dissatisfaction and unrest among his men. Thinking to find a work that would engage all their strength and time, he set out with one of the more trustworthy, the young Sieur de Boisrondet, together with two Recollet friars, Father Membre and Father Ribourde, and ascended the river to the spot where lay the great city of the Illini. He had long felt that if the height overlooking this town could be fortified and held, an impregnable fortress would be secured which would serve not only as a menace to all the Indians of the region, but would become an admirable storehouse for the furs that could be collected. While thus engaged at the town of the friendly Illini, one of the men who had been left behind at Fort Creve-Coeur arrived, bringing the disastrous news that the entire force remaining there had mutinied, destroyed the fort, and taken to the woods to lead the free roving life of the coureurs-de-bois that they all so much desired. Thus were these three Frenchmen and the two priests left alone. They made their quarters in the Illini town. There was now no hope of fortifying the rock even, until Tonti's return.

Thus passed the spring. With the early summer came the news that carried dismay to the hearts of all their savage allies; the ferocious Iroquois were on the march to attack them. Confusion reigned. The white men were instantly accused of being Iroquois spies, and the approaching attack was attributed to their doings. For a time it looked to all as though in the heat and excitement of the moment they would be sacrificed to the fear and anger of the frightened savages. But La Salle boldly proclaimed that the whites were friends of the Illini, and to prove this said they would join them in their defense against the oncoming enemy. This served to stop any active measures against the French, although they were still viewed with suspicion.

A few days later the advance guard of the attacking force appeared, and hurried preparations were made to resist. The squaws and children were hurried down the river to an island, where they were left with a small force to guard them, while the main body of the warriors remained to meet their foe. The faces of the braves were greased, their bodies painted, and the night spent in dancing their war-dances, singing their war-songs, and working up their courage to meet the coming battle. The scouts brought in ever-increasing reports of the size of the force that was making ready to fall upon them. La Salle offered to mediate between the two nations, so advancing with two of his companions, he held out a belt of wampum as a sign of peace. When the Iroquois commenced firing on them La Salle sent the others back, and, proceeding alone, soon entered the Iroquois lines. He inquired haughtily what they, the allies of the French, meant by coming on a warlike errand against the Illini, who were the children of the great Onontio and who were under his special protection. He stood unflinching amid a group of bowling, threatening savages. One brave, intoxicated with dreams of blood and murder, struck at him with a knife, but the blade that was intended for his heart, striking a rib, glanced off, inflicting an ugly flesh wound. Another seized his hair with one hand, and with the other made the motions of scalping him. La Salle, without weapons or any means of defense, boldly chided them for their behavior, and demanded a council of the chiefs. This was held, and he repeated his demands that the Illini be left in peace, threatening the Iroquois with the wrath of France if they were harmed.

After a long and tedious season of harangues from many of the chiefs they brought forth six packages of beaver skins and placed them before La Salle. The chief orator then presented them to him and explained their meaning. The first two were to declare that the children of the great Onontio (the Illini) were not to be eaten. The next was a plaster to heal La Salle's wound. The next was oil to anoint himself and his French companions for a long journey. The next announced that the sun was bright and traveling good. The last required that the whites should withdraw from the Illini camp, and go home to Quebec. La Salle thereupon thanked them for their gifts, but asked when they themselves were going to depart, and leave the Illini in peace. This raised a storm of angry feelings, and murmurs were heard on all sides that they would yet eat the flesh of the Illini. La Salle then kicked over the pile of beaver skins, saying that he would not receive them if they were going to eat the children of the great Onontio.

He was thereupon driven from the lodge in which the council was held. He offered again to mediate, without success. He then withdrew, sent for the rest of his party, and knowing that to remain would mean a certain and terrible death for them all, set out in a leaky canoe for Fort Miami. They were obliged to land and repair the leaks. While thus engaged, Father Ribourde wandered away from their camp to meditate at the setting of the sun. He was never seen again by the eyes of the French. A number of Iroquois who had followed the course of the party since leaving, surprised him while engaged with his devotions in the timber near by, and cleft his skull with an ax, killing him without sound or struggle on his part. Thus died the only heir to a wealthy Burgundian house, who had renounced the comforts of this world to carry to heathen ears the truths and consolations of the church. Noble martyr of the faith, true soldier of the cross, he braved a thousand dangers, fired by a holy zeal, meeting his death at the hands of those he had come so far to bless.

After searching vainly to find trace of their companion and spending two days in the vicinity in the vain hope that he would return, they at last renewed their journey, reaching Fort Miami without further accident. They determined then to go up the west side of the lake toward Michilimackinac. They had not proceeded far when their canoe was rendered unfit for further service, and they proceeded the rest of the way on foot. Food became exhausted, and they were verging upon starvation when a band of friendly Pottawottomies found them and took them to their home. Here a messenger whom Tonti had dispatched to search for tidings of his friend found them in the middle of the winter.

La Salle had finally succumbed to the vicissitudes of the past months and lay for many weeks ill with a wasting fever, tended by the faithful Boisrondet and Father Membre. He sent the messenger back to Tonti, assuring him of his safety, and begging him to remain where he was until the spring, promising to rejoin him there as soon as he was able to make the journey. Tonti sent word over the ice to Michilimackinac telling Renee of his discovery of La Salle and of their plans.

To Prevent Mistakes.

Stranger (at village hotel)—Years ago I knew everybody in this town. I wonder what has become of a young fellow that used to loaf around the livery stable and play checkers—my, how he could play checkers!—his name, I think, was Berryham—

Landlord—That's my name. I'm the chap.

"You don't say! Then you must have known a prim young school teacher, a Miss—"

"Mister, before you say anything more I may as well tell you I married a prim young school teacher."

"O, I beg your pardon!"

"What for, sir?"

"Why—er—say, do you know whatever became of a young squirt named Chiggers that clerked in Pummy's grocery store?"

"I haven't thought of him for 17 years. I don't know where he is now. Good deal of a numskull, wasn't he?"

"He was—and he hasn't any more sense now than he had then. I'm Chiggers. Shall we call it a stand-off?"—Chicago Tribune.

Naval Courtesy.

Ernest Vedel, a Paris literary man, was once a lieutenant in the French navy. At one time he commanded a small warship charged with the duty of preventing the entrance of foreign vessels into a Siamese harbor. A Scandinavian ship, with a Siamese commodore who called himself Armand Duplessis de Richelieu, attempted to enter by the alleged authorization of the French minister at Bangkok. M. Vedel wrote a note in these terms: "If you don't desist, I shall open fire." Then he learned that Mme. Richelieu was with her husband, and he tied the note to a magnificent bouquet. The commodore with the illustrious name desisted, and thanked the polite lieutenant profusely for the flowers.

Sure of Her.

Hobb—Bob's sentiment for Miss Swellsome is cooling.

Nobb—What makes you so sure of it?

"He orders her flowers by 'phone now, instead of ordering them himself."

"That isn't conclusive evidence; maybe they're engaged."—Detroit Free Press.

Not So Irreverent.

A woman of Scotland when asked if she had understood the sermon to which she had just been listening replied: "Wad I hae the presumption?"

THE DISCOVERER

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles or such hosts of grateful friends as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It will entirely cure the worst forms of Female Complaints, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacement of the Womb, and consequent Spinal Weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the Change of Life.

It has cured more cases of Backache and Leucorrhœa than any other remedy the world has ever known. It is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and expels tumors from the Uterus in an early stage of development.

Irregular, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Flooding, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to it. Womb troubles, causing pain, weight and backache, instantly relieved and permanently cured by its use. Under all circumstances it invigorates the female system, and is as harmless as water.

It quickly removes that Bearing-down Feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, Dizziness, Faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues" and headache. These are sure indications of Female Weakness, or some derangement of the Uterus, which this medicine always cures. Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex, the Vegetable Compound always cures

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want—a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.

Poor Imitation.

Arrested for larceny, the cashier of a St. Louis restaurant claimed absent-mindedness in exculpation. He said that one morning while he was reading about the delicta of life insurance officials he unconsciously abstracted seven dollars from the till. The judge asked him why he did not take the entire contents.—Boston Budget.

She Thought of Him.

She—Oh, Mr. Borem, how do you do? I was talking to Mrs. Nexdore just now, and I couldn't help thinking of you.

He—And was she discussing me?

"Not exactly. She was commenting on the weather, and just asked me if I could imagine anything more tiresome and disagreeable."—Philadelphia Ledger.

WILD WITH ECZEMA

And Other Itching, Burning, Scaly Eruptions, with Loss of Hair—Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle; dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal; and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent Pills to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set, costing but $1.00, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp and blood humors, with loss of hair, when all else fails.

THE HALF-BACK AUCTION.

Honor of Alma Mater at Stake Prompts Bid That Gets the Player.

"What am I offered for this prime New England half-back?" asked the auctioneer briskly of the assembled managers and alumni, relates Puck. "Fresh from his prep. school! A fine line-bucker! Follows his interference like a leech! Weight, 170 stripped! Come, now!"

"Free tuition during his whole college course," cried the manager of the Yale eleven.

"Free tuition," repeated the auctioneer, "during his whole college course. Do I hear free board? Remember, gentlemen, he has a record of 60 touchdowns in one season. Do I hear it?"

"Free tuition and board for four years," shouted the Princylvania manager, "and we'll toss in the college agency for Doper's cigarettes."

The auctioneer waved his gavel in preparation for the final bang.

"Tuition, board and an agency," he shouted. "Do I hear free clothes? Remember, half-backs are scarce. This one is guaranteed for four full years and a postgraduate course. Going at tuition, board and an agency! Going—I am astonished—going—go—"

There was a rustle in the throng. A breathless man burst through.

"Free tuition, board, an agency," cried the newcomer, "free clothes, rent free in Vandergould hall, free text books, free trip to—"

"Gone!" shrieked the auctioneer. "He's yours. What name?"

"Manager Hale university. Last June by graduation we lost our whole back field and six of the linemen. The honor of our alma mater is at stake."

"Report for practice," he said to his purchase, "next Saturday morning in the gym lot."

WANTED SIMPLE TUNES.

Those Classical Things on the Violin Were Too Much for Him.

A Westport fond father made his daughter mad and, incidentally, held up to view his lack of knowledge of violin music. His daughter is a violinist. A visitor was in the library, and the father suggested that his daughter play. She was willing, relates the Kansas City Times.

"Mary's been studying in the east," said her father, "and has just got home. I haven't heard her play much myself yet."

The girl's mother went to the piano in the next room, and the girl got her violin. For three or four minutes twanging from the two instruments was heard. Then there was a halt. It was there that the fond father made his mistake.

"Now play something simple, Mary," he said. "That was nice, but it's too classical for me."

The girl glanced through the door. Her face wore a look of disgust.

"I've been tuning, father," she said.

A Teacher's Testimony.

Hinton, Ky., Oct. 30th (Special).—It has long been claimed that Diabetes is incurable, but Mr. E. J. Thompson, teacher in the Hinton school, has pleasing evidence to the contrary. Mr. Thompson had Diabetes. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills and is cured. In a statement he makes regarding his cure Mr. Thompson says:

"I was troubled with my kidneys for more than two years, and was treated by two of the best doctors in this part of the state. They claimed I had Diabetes and there was little to be done for me. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and what they did for me was wonderful. It is entirely owing to Dodd's Kidney Pills that I am now enjoying good health."

Many doctors still maintain that Diabetes is incurable. But Diabetes is a kidney disease, and the kidney disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure has yet to be discovered.

Head.

The man being out of his head, the surgeon proceeded forthwith to saw a hole in his skull.

"To enable him to get back in," whispered the unlearned onlookers, one to another, in awe.—Puck.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—It is reported from Casper, Wyo., that sales of town lots for the new town of Shoshone, located on the edge of the Wind River Reservation on the new line of The Chicago & North-Western Railway across the state from Casper, have been unprecedented.

Bidding for town lots runs high, and a large number have been disposed of within a short time. Buyers evidently figure on the growth of the city here when the Indian reservation is thrown open to settlement next June.

"If de world jedged a man by what he starts," said Uncle Eben, "instid o' by what he finishes, every page in de city directory would be full o' great men."—Washington Star.

SUFFERINGS UNTOLD.

A Kansas City Woman's Terrible Experience With Kidney Sickness.

Mrs. Mary Cogin, 20th St. and Cleveland Ave., Kansas City, Mo., says: "For years I was run down, weak, lame and sore. The kidney secretions were too frequent. Then dropsy puffed up my ankles until they were a sight to behold. Doctors gave me up, but I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, and the remedy cured me so that I have been well ever since, and have had a fine baby, the first in five that was not prematurely born."

HINTS FOR HOSTESS

WAYS OF ENTERTAINING ON VARIOUS OCCASIONS.

An Up-to-Date Book Party—Inscriptions for the Home—The Dutch Supper—A Left-Handed Party—Girl's Birthday Party.

(Copyright, 1905.)

An Up-to-Date Book Party.

The hostess informed us that she had spent weeks in preparing for this entertainment, and we believed her when we gazed upon the 32 objects, each bearing the name of an author. The title of the book represented was to be guessed and written on the card opposite the number the object bore. For instance, "The Eternal City," by Hall Caine, was represented by a map of Rome; "The Virginian," by a picture of George Washington, with Owen Wister written on one corner; "The Speckled Bird," by Augusta Evans Wilson, by a white bird covered with specks; "Black Rock" was easy—a black stone on the table, with Connor on it. A spray of blue flowers recalled that Van Dyke had written "The Little Blue Flower." "The Three Musketeers" was represented by three toy soldiers. Kipling's "Seven Seas" was recognized by seven C's written on white paper and pinned on the wall. "The Octopus," by William Norris, was a large picture of that fish. Other books represented were: "A Paste Board Crown," by Clara Morris; "Boy," Corelli; "We Two," Edna Lyall; "The Duet," Kipling; "The Gentleman from Indiana," Booth Tarkington, and "Three Men in a Boat," by Jerome.

First, second and consolation prizes were given, consisting of books. This was an afternoon affair for ladies, but it would be quite suitable for a club or church society entertainment.

Quotations Appropriate for the New Home.

In the old-time manor house it was the fashion to inscribe a motto over the fireplace, especially in the great dining-room and library. The inscription was usually in Latin, the language of the scholar. This custom is now being revived, and there is scarcely a room in which a sentiment prettily expressed would not be a welcome addition, and which would at once attract the attention of a guest as being something unique. Here are a few good sentiments; the lettering may be done in script or Old English:

For the hall:

"East or west, home is best."

"A man's home is his castle."

"Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace."

"Our house is ever at your service."

Over the fireplace in Mark Twain's house in Connecticut is this beautiful inscription:

"The ornament of a house is the guests who frequent it."

The three following inscriptions are especially appropriate for the family living-room:

"Oh, ye fire and heat, bless ye the Lord."

"God has given us this ease," or "Seek thine own ease."

"No place is more delightful than one's own fireside."

For the library:

"Old wood to burn,
Old friends to trust,
Old authors to read."

"There is an art of reading."

"The monuments of vanished minds."

"Infinite riches in a little room."

For the nursery:

"God rest ye, little children."

"A child in the house is a well-spring of pleasure."

For the music room:

"The hidden soul of harmony."

"Music, the speech of the angels."

A very popular form of entertainment is the Dutch supper. If it is possible, do not use a table cloth, but have doilies or orange crepe paper, that is the Dutch color. Use all the Delft china that is procurable; and imitation ware is very effective and very cheap. Tulips are the Dutch flower, and tulip shaped bon-bon boxes and candle shades may be made from orange tissue paper. Little wooden shoes may be purchased and used to hold the salted nuts. Serve the following menu, which is written in Dutch, much to the mystification of the guests. (The translation is given for the benefit of the hostess):

Kalf Soep Met Gehak Ballen.
(Veal Soup with Garnish of Meat Balls.)
Gebraden Tong.
(Roasted Tongue.)
Brussels Sprinten.
(Brussels Sprouts.
Bloemkool met Room Sause.
(Creamed Cauliflower.)
Haring Sla met Croodjes.
(Herring Salad with Rolls.)
Gesneden Sinaas Appelen met Wyne Sause.
(Sliced Oranges with Wine Sauce.)
Gesorteerde Noten.
(Assorted Nuts.)
Kaffee.
(Coffee.)

For a left-handed party, write the invitations with the left hand, and ask each guest to practice using the left hand, for very few are clever enough to be ambidexterous. When the guests arrive the left hand must be used in greeting, also in serving and eating the refreshments. Have a type-written or a printed quotation which each one must copy, using only the left hand. Award prizes for the best and poorest specimen. This is really a very amusing affair.

Here is a green and white luncheon to be served to eight guests, the ideal number for a luncheon party. The table center piece is a glass bowl filled with maiden hair ferns; use candlesticks of glass, with green shades. A large fern ball suspended over the table makes a most beautiful decoration. The place cards are white, with a spray of fern done in water colors.

The following menu is very appetizing and easy to prepare. A puree made from spinach and peas served with a spoonful of whipped cream; creamed minced chicken baked in ramakins; sweetbread salad served in green peppers; pistachio ice in tall glasses standing on a fern decorated plate. Green frosted cakes ornamented with blanched almonds and creme de menth completes this dainty menu.

This is a very clever scheme devised by a mother to celebrate her little girl's tenth birthday. Invitations were sent out "from half after two until six." "Rainbow Party" was written in one corner. The rooms were completely transformed by yards of red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet cheese-cloth, which was used as portieres, window drapery, etc. It was festooned from the corners of the room to the gas fixtures in the center and was draped from the grillwork.

The mother told the old fairy story—the two children who set out to discover the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Then each child was given a piece of string which he or she was to wind up without breaking; the cords had been arranged as for a spider-web party. When the end of the string was reached a tiny pot was found on the end filled with peppermint candy, which had been wrapped in gold paper.

The birthday cake was crescent-shaped, bearing candles of the seven colors. This party is really very pretty and not half the trouble to prepare as it appears to be from reading the description.

A novel way to find partners is to write on the cards passed to the men the names of states, and the names of capital cities on those for the ladies. Then tell the "states" to find their "capitals." It is surprising to see the mixed-up condition of things for a few minutes, especially if the western and newer states are selected.

ELLYE HOWELL GLOVER.

SILK VOILE BLOUSE.

Light, Cool Stuff Which Drapes Prettily and Does Not Easily Show Mussing.

Silk voile is a delightful material for blouses! it is light and cool, drapes beautifully, and does not easily crush. It has moreover the quality of washing well. Our model has a small yoke that is continued to the waist to form a sort of vest; the voile is gathered to this yoke. The berthe is edged with finely-pleated ribbon; the same out lines the yoke and each side front. Straps of ribbon velvet of the color of the spots form a trimming on the collar band and bust; the end of each strap is finished by a paste button. The sleeves have tight-fitting under parts of lace with pleatings at top and wrist.

A VERY STYLISH WAIST.

Materials required for the blouse: Two and one-quarter yards four and one-half inches wide, one and one-half yards lace 18 inches wide, two yards velvet, one dozen buttons, about five yards pleating.

Accepting an Invitation.

In accepting an invitation you should say: "It gives me much pleasure to accept your very kind invitation for luncheon on Wednesday, October the seventh.' Do not say "it will give me much pleasure." An invitation should never be accepted provisionally, that is, you should never say: "I should be delighted to accept your very kind invitation if I am not obliged to leave town before that date." Your hostess will not know whether she can depend upon your being present at the entertainment or whether she must ask some one else to fill your place.

The Chaperone.

You should try always to show your chaperon that you are not unmindful of her presence. It is always an evidence of refinement and good breeding to remember all these little acts of courtesy and you should remember that after all she is making, no doubt, an act of great sacrifice by giving up her own pleasures in order to be with you. You should present your friends to her if it is possible. A man always feels it is a compliment when he is presented to a girl's mother or chaperon.

THE SCIENCE OF LIVING.

Dr. George F. Butler Tells How to Eat and How to Assimilate.

Dr. George F. Butler, medical superintendent of the Alma Springs Sanitarium, Alma, Mich., in the October number of "How to Live," gives some interesting as well as sensible rules for acquiring and keeping health. He says: "Without we eat and drink, we die! The provocative to do both rests with the appetite, which, in process of time, becomes a very uncertain guide; for the palate will often induce a desire and relish for that which is most mischievous and indigestible. The old saying of 'eat what you like' is now shunned by everybody of 20 years' experience. Still, without appetite, it is a very difficult affair to subsist—for the pleasure depends chiefly upon the relish. The relish may become, as has been stated, a vitiated one, but it is quite possible to make the stomach, by a little forbearance and practice, as enamored of what is wholesome and nutritious, as of that which is hurtful, and not concoctible."

Again he says: "The delicate should feed carefully, not abundantly; it is not quantity which nourishes, but only that which assimilates."

"Be careful of your digestion" is the keynote of the doctor's argument. He says: "Health in man, as in other animals, depends upon the proper performance of all the functions. These functions may be shortly said to be three: (1) tissue change; (2) removal of waste; (3) supply of new material. For the activity of man, like the heat of the fire by which he cooks his food, is maintained by combustion; and just as the fire may be prevented from burning brightly by improper disposition of the fuel, or imperfect supply of air, and as it will certainly go out if fresh fuel is not supplied, and may be choked by its own ashes, so man's activity may be lessened by imperfect tissue change, and may be put an end to, by an insufficient supply of new material and imperfect removal of waste products.

"We should see to it that free elimination is maintained, for the ashes must be kept out of the system in order to have good health. The skin, kidneys and bowels must do their eliminative work properly. If the bowels occasionally become torpid, try to regulate them with exercise and proper food, such as fruits, green vegetables, salads, cereals, corn, whole wheat or graham bread, fish, poultry, light soups, etc. Plenty of water is also valuable, and a glass full of cold or hot water the first thing upon rising in the morning will aid much in overcoming constipation. Regular habit, cold baths, and massage are very efficacious. In case the constipation does not yield to these hygienic measures, some simple, harmless laxative may be required, such as California Syrup of Figs—a non-irritating preparation of senna in fig syrup—Laxative mineral waters are beneficial in some cases, but not to be employed continually.

"Above all be an optimist, keep the heart young. Cultivate kindness, cheerfulness and love, and do not forget that 'we shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that we do, or any kindness that we show to any human being, let us do it now. Let us not defer it or neglect it, for we shall not pass this way again.'"

New Belgian Territory.

Though Belgium has an area of but 11,373 square miles, which is less than one-fourth the size of the state of New York, and a population of only 6,500,000, it has accomplished within 20 years a mighty task, opening up to the world a vast territory covering an area of 800,000,000 square miles with a native and white population of about 30,000,000.

CAMERON.

A very quiet week has just passed in Cameron with the exceptions of several barroom fights and small hats.

At a meeting of the Citizens Protective Union last week in the opera house, Mr. James Cockburn, was nominated their advance agent for prosperty. Mr. Cockburn expects to start on his new mission about Christmas.

Mr. John Alderfer, of Renovo, was a pleasant caller on old friends last Monday.

Daniel Sullivan's daughter Katie, who has been quite sick with fever, is reported much better.

Mrs. Wm. Krape is again able to be out after a short illness.

Mrs. Ben Lord, of Sterling Run, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Robert Lord, of this place returned home Sunday.

Mr. O. E. Williams and family returned home Sunday from a visit to his relatives in York State.

Mrs. Fred Comley is still confined to her bed with fever.

The Emporium visitors for the week were: Mrs. William Wykoff, Mrs. William Greenarch, Miss Esther Stewart, Miss Greenarch and Mrs. C. W. Pennington. There was also a large number of our people attended the Institute at Emporium.

Mr. Pat Farrell, of Huntley, came up from that place to visit his father-in-law and cast his vote, Tuesday.

Our esteemed contemporary the Independent is to be congratulated in securing the services of Mr. F. Hoyt, as corespondent from Cameron and the townspeople will have the benefit of good breezy news each week, as Mr. Hoyt has a finished education in both literature and mathematics, besides being up-to-date railroad man.

HUNTLEY.

Miss Bertha Wylie, of Pine Grove, called on friends in town Friday.

Wm. Johnson was able to sit up a few minutes Sunday. Good luck to you, William. Here's hoping to see you out soon.

W. R. Smith has entirely recovered from his recent illness.

Mrs. J. F. Sullivan and son have returned from Rochester, accompanied by Mr. Sullivan's mother, who will spend the winter with them.

Quite an attractive program is booked for the Athletic Club Saturday night. The first of the entertainments will be a composition entitled "Race Suicide," by Patrick Farrel, followed by a friendly six round go—between Mr. John Carson and Levi Smith. Both boys are in trim and are as spry as O. B. Tanner's colt. Music will be furnished by Park's String Band. The last act will be a short talk by J. F. Sullivan on "How to get ten penny wire nails out of seasoned hemlock boards and not break the second commandment.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barclay last week—a son.

Mr. Wm. Davis and Mrs. G. L. Gore are visiting friends on Kettle Creek this week.

George Darren is just recovering from a severe attack of lagrippe.

Jonathan Gore, known as Uncle Sam who has carried the U. S. mail for a long time, had to resign owing to failing health.

A. B. Belden, of Hix Run, attended election here Tuesday.

J. H. Welton's new hotel at Hix Run will be completed this week and he will move in in a few days.

Constable Crane gathered in quite a bunch of Sabbath breakers on last Sunday. He gathered in a bunch of five in Decater Wykoff's barn and another bunch of three in Barclay Bros., boarding house. One of them got away as three of them were most too much for him single handed. He gathered them together at Bailey's hotel and on Monday morning took them before Squire Nefey, at Driftwood. It being their first offense the Squire left them off with a small fine and costs. There is another bunch he is after and will gather them in some fine day.

The Powder Company have purchased old John from Barclay Bro's to do their hauling until their new engine comes which will be a good deal larger and will have to be to do the work.

"The Missouri Girl" which comes to the New Opera House, Thursday Nov. 9, is a bright rural comedy that pictures life in the Ozark county in every detail. It has a strong moral which always leaves a good impression and bears the proud distinction of having the endorsement of all the leading dramatic critics, as well as the pulpit throughout the entire country. The comedy is refined and extremely funny, being the kind of fun that you are not ashamed to have your mother, wife, sister or sweetheart see.

The following schools made an average in attendance of more than 95 per cent: High School and MissBryan's 98, Miss Ritchie's 97, MissLarrabee's, Heilman's 96½, Miss Ling's and Cleary's 96, Miss Griffiin's 95½. To those pupils who have made a good record in attendance so far, we would say persevere. The one who attends every day has no gaps to bridge over.

The work in the main is satisfactory, the pupils interested and industrious. We ask parents to examine reports carefully and in case a weakness is shown in any subject insist upon home work. We urge parents to visit the schools, to examine the written work and listen to the recitations.

Emporium, Pa., October 30th, 1905.

MR. A. A. McDONALD,
Chief Emporium Fire Department.
Emporium, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Permit me on behalf of myself and family to extend through you, our sincere thanks to the Emporium Fire Department for the excelleut work done at the fire at my house on the 12th inst.

I am sure that no department in the State of Pennsylvania could have done more efficient and careful work.

Your firemen saw that the children were taken out of the building and taken to a place of safety for which I particularly thank them.

They promptly arrested and put out a fire that promised to destroy the house, confining the actual fire to the kitchen where it started and they not only put out the fire but they so carefully managed the water that none of it got into the main building except a small amount in the bathroom which did practically no damage.

For this excellent and efficient work I again thank each company in the depatment and each individual firemen in each of the companies.

Yours very truly,
J. P. McNARNEY.

The Winter Excursion Book.

Just issued by the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is one of the finest resort books ever gotten out by any railroad company. It is a comprehensive manual of the leading Winter resorts of the entire United States, containing one hundred and sixty-eight pages of interesting reading matter, and profusely illustrated with half-tone engravings. One may obtain full information in reference to wintering places, route and rates thereto. The book is bound in an artistic cover, chaste in design and harmonious in color. This valuable work may be obtained free of charge at the principal ticket offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, or will be sent, postpaid, upon application to Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.
